Art Unit: 3748

Applicant's amendment dated May 11, 2007, has been fully considered.

Applicant argued it would not have been obvious to combine the references. The Examiner strongly disagrees. The modified features are simply the basis elements of power plants including back-up generators, batteries, and fuel storages. These basis elements are well known in all power plants and it would have been obvious to add these basis elements in any power plant as taught by the secondary reference.

Applicant argued the applied references do not teach the erectable features of the wind turbines and communication system. The Examiner disagrees. All wind turbine and satellite dish are erectable to the sky to receive wind and signals. Therefore, it's concluded that the wind turbine and the satellite dish in the applied references also are erectable.

For the reasons set forth above, the rejections have been made FINAL.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 3748

Claims 1, 9, 13-15, 19, 46, 48-49, 51, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being obvious based on US 4261329 (Walsh et al) in view of US 2002/0153178 (Limonius).

Walsh et al discloses an energy system which can be used both on vehicle platform (126, 143, 145) the energy system uses solar energy by having adjustable solar cell panels 44, or to generate electricity. Walsh et al does not teach the generator, a fuel storage container, and batteries. Limonius discloses a portable power plant in a car having solar panels 16, electric generators 68, 26, 22, 46, for generating back-up energy, batteries 48, fuel storage tank 50. It would have been obvious to provide electric generators, batteries, and fuel container in Walsh et al as taught by Limonius for the purpose of generating and storing back-up energy.

Claims 1, 4-8, 13-19, 45-46, 48-49, 51, 56, 58, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being obvious based on US 4553037 (Veazey) in view of US 4261329 (Walsh et al) and US 2002/0153178 (Limonius).

Regarding claims 1, 9, 13-15, 19, 46, 48-49, 51, 56, 58, Veazey discloses a hybrid energy system which can be used both on vehicle platform (figure 6), or on boats (figures 5, 7-18), the energy system uses both solar energy and wind energy by having adjustable solar cell panels 25, or adjustable Darrieus windmill 21 to generate electricity through back-up generator 26 or to store energy in batteries 24. Veazey does not disclose the system mounted on a distinct platform from a vehicle. Walsh et al discloses an energy system which can be used both on vehicle platform (126, 143, 145) the energy system uses solar energy by having adjustable solar cell panels 44, or to generate electricity. It would have been obvious to mount the system in Veazey on a separate platform from a vehicle as taught by Walsh et al for the purpose of ease of assembling/disassembling the platform. Veazey also does not teach the generator, a fuel storage container, and batteries. Limonius discloses a portable power plant in a car having solar panels 16, electric generators 68, 26, 22, 46, for generating back-up energy, batteries 48, fuel storage tank 50. It would have been obvious to provide electric generators, batteries, and fuel container in Veazey as taught by Limonius for the purpose of generating and storing back-up energy. Regarding claims 4-6, 16, 46, Veazey discloses all the claimed subject matter as set forth above in the rejection of claim 1, but does not disclose the specific powers, different types of containers, battery box, connector..etc..... However, it would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to elect different types of devices as claimed in Veazey for the purpose of achieving appropriate power output.

Claims 17-18, 36, 54, 57, 59, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 103(a) as being unpatentable over U.S. 4553037 (Veazey) in view of Walsh et al and Limonius, and US 2003/0054329 (Springett). Veazey as modified discloses all the claimed subject matter as set forth above in the rejection of claim 1, but does not disclose the communication system having satellite dish. Springett discloses it's well known for a portable power plant on a vehicle platform to have a satellite dish (column 2). It would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to provide a satellite dish in Veazey as taught by Springett for the purpose of communicating with other facilities if needed.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

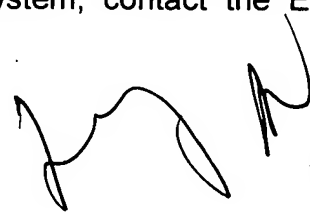

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
